5 Ways Authentic Speaking® Benefits YOU

- 1. You'll learn how better to persuade and influence people, both in formal and informal communication, with an integrated system, not a list of a thousand different dos and don'ts.*
- 2. Your training builds on your strengths as an individual, rather than imposing a fake or unworkable style on you.*
- 3. You'll be able to improve your speaking in a purposeful and lasting manner that complements your personality and style, by learning and using solid communication principles.*
- 4. Your training is appropriate for all contexts, as we cover advanced issues of presentations in different settings (business, personal, non-profit or public).*
- 5. Your training will be tailored to your needs through a pre-workshop survey about your presentation requirements.*

Authentic Speaking® is different from other public speaking and presentation courses. We have developed a system that combines the best of psychology, communications theory, education and experience to create an integrated method to help you become a great speaker.

What's Different About Authentic Speaking®?

Authentic Speaking® is an integrated way of looking at public speaking developed by experts in public speaking and in learning. By taking a unified approach, it allows you to be flexible and to make informed choices in your speaking. We tailor our coaching to your experience, needs and goals. By drawing on the best of established principles of public speaking, psychology and learning and our proprietary methods, our coaching helps you to grow as a communicator.

Who Should Attend?

Whether you are just starting out, or are a skilled communicator wanting to reach a higher level in your speaking and presentation skills, you will grow through our unique approach. Not only will you apply in-depth public speaking principles, you will see applications in all aspects of interpersonal communication. We often have experienced speakers who highly value the workshop, but the Foundations workshop also particularly helps participants overcome their fears and anxieties – taking them from shaking with fear to shaking the room!

This is not just a lecture on public speaking – you will actively apply the skills you are learning by working on a presentation that is important to you. It may be a key upcoming sales presentation, a lecture or research presentation, a policy speech or an annual report. Deliver key parts of your presentation in the safety of this workshop, alongside peers and under the guidance of your coach.

Authentic Speaking® will build your confidence and ability to persuade and inspire. Authentic Speaking® is a must for anyone who wants to grow as a speaker AND leader.

Public and In-House Options

The Authentic Speaking® Foundations Workshop is run for the general public a number of times throughout the year. It is also available as an in-house workshop for interested organisations. The in-house option can present a substantial saving per individual compared to open enrolments, while delivering what some participants have told us is the best team-building workshop they have experienced. This is because all of the participants form common ground in improving their communication and are focused on supporting each other practically both during and after the workshop.

Enquire with us for in-house options. After a discussion with your chief organisational sponsor, we will give you options for delivery, timing and your level of investment.
